DETAILED ACTION

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phraseology, namely "comprising". Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Please Note: Applicant had made numerous changes to correct grammatical and typographical errors in the parent case throughout pages 1-6, 8-12, 14 & 16-18 in a preliminary amendment and the amendment filed 11/29/99. If these changes have not been made in the originally filed specification of the instant application, applicant should do so in response to this office action.

Art Unit: 3762

Applicant has indicated co-pending applications in the first paragraph of the specification. The first page of the specification should be updated to clarify the status of all related applications noted in the first paragraph of the specification. The status of nonprovisional parent application(s) (whether patented or abandoned) should also be included. If a parent application has become a patent, the expression "now Patent No. _____" should follow the filing date of the parent application. If a parent application has become abandoned, the expression "now abandoned" should follow the filing date of the parent application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 3762

Claims 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Honard et al. (4,685,900) in view of "Plasmapheresis in the treatment of critical degree of ischaemia in diabetic and angiopathies of lower extremities" (Georgadze et al.)

Honard et al. (hereafter Honard) discloses a plasmapheresis device and method for treating "any disease by removal of noxious substances or cells from the blood" (col. 15, lines 58-64). The method comprises withdrawing blood from a patient, treating said blood by plasmapheresis, and returning the treated blood to the patient. The device has "biologicals" fixed to a biocompatible polymer that filters the patient's blood. Honard discloses that the "biologicals" may be chosen based on the specific disease to be treated. For example, antibodies to islet cells may be used to treat diabetes mellitus (col. 14, lines 55-56). Honard does not expressly disclose that the treatment is for treating the diabetic ischemia of a foot.

Georgadze et al. teaches that plasmapheresis may be used for the treatment of ischemia in the lower extremities of diabetics. It is disclosed that the plasmapheresis corrects the biochemical and coagulation parameters of the blood and thereby preserves the extremity from amputation in most patients. With respect to the treatment of the foot, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art based on the teaching of Georgadze to use plasmapheresis as treatment for a person diagnosed with diabetic ischemia of the foot since the foot is obviously part of the lower extremity. Such treatment would be beneficial to preserve the foot from amputation.
